

Individual reflection

Ellen Widerstrand

Week 7, May 2019

What do I want to learn or understand better?

My knowledge about React JS is still something I want to improve. React JS is still fairly new to me and I think that there is much more for me to learn. I especially want to learn more about function calls, which is something that I haven't used so much during the previous weeks.

How can I help someone else, or the entire team, to learn something new?

I worked a bit with APIs and getting information from Google this week, which is something that most of the others haven't worked with before. I think that I can show them some tips on how to use APIs.

What is my contribution towards the team's use of Scrum?

I have contributed towards the team's use of scrum this week by using the Trello whilst working on my user stories as well as updating considering the importance of user stories. I have also contributed in discussions.

What is my contribution towards the team's deliveries?

I have worked with the same coding partner as previous weeks and we have worked on some features together. We have added auto-complete for addresses in the search box on the start page. We also added the possibility for users to choose their current position, which returns the coordinates for the user's position. This is later going to be connected to a farmer's coordinates in order to show the correct distance between the buyer and the seller.

I have also, just like previous weeks, contributed in the team's joint assignments, team reflection and sprint retrospective.
