What do i want to learn and understand better?

I want to get a better grip on react and how it works, how to write better code in it and how it can be used to make our application the best possible.

How can i help someone else, or the entire team, to learn something new?

I can help the entire team be better at react and hopefully help the less experienced in programming understand programming in general better.

What is my contribution towards the team's use of Scrum?

We discussed earlier this week on how we are to implement it, further discussion will be held, so nothing except meetings so far.

What is my contribution towards the team's deliveries?

Personal reflection, we made a mock-up of our application which i helped with and i also helped with ideas and discussion towards our application.
