

Weekly report, Sara Hillström

Sara Hillström

Week 8, May 2019

What do I want to learn or understand better?

Since next week practically will be the final sprint we will only work with the finishing touches to the code and writing the final project report. Because of this I will focus on getting better at analyzing the process and what we could have done differently in a new project.

How can I help someone else, or the entire team, to learn something new?

In previous courses I have learned a lot about how to write a report and how to analyze a process, which is needed in writing our final report. I hope that I by these skills can help others in our team in bringing value to our discussions regarding our process, what went well and what could be improved in a new project.

What is my contribution towards the team's use of Scrum?

As in previous sprints I've contributed to the Scrum use by taking part of discussions, using the Trello Scrum board and being a product owner and critically reviewing the user stories based on its acceptance criterias. Other than this I have been a part of making sure that we have our daily scrums and providing information about my development teams status in these meetings.

What is my contribution towards the team's deliveries?

During this sprint I have been a part of finishing our code and creating the final customer value. I have also taken part in discussion what final additions to our code should be prioritized.

But my main contribution during this sprint is that I have started writing on our final project report. I have together with some in the team written down the major things of our process and how they have developed over time, and then from these notes we have developed a draft for the final hand in. This is something I will continue to contribute to for the rest of the project.