What do i want to learn and understand better?

I want to learn how the business model works, how the customers different needs can be applied to my work and how everything from the customer to finished product is connected. I also want to understand my group better to see how well we can work together.

How can i help someone else, or the entire team, to learn something new?

I can help the students from the industrial economics program to use version control with git and thus help the entire team to work better.

What is my contribution towards the team's use of Scrum?

We practised scrum by doing lego this week, i was excited about it and think we did really well. We haven't started using it as a group for our project otherwise.

What is my contribution towards the team's deliveries?

We all helped form the social contract, i also created the repository and a model for what a reflection might look like.
