Week 4

What went well in the sprint?

It went better than expected to start coding. We expected that it would take far more time to get used to the new language and get something to work. We finished all our user stories, not having to put down more effort than planned.

What could be developed?

To avoid clusters in our merging we need to pick user stories that do not overlap each others. It will hopefully improve our workflow and minimise merge conflicts.

What will we commit to improve in the next sprint?

We will make sure to merge more often in the upcoming sprints, to avoid big merge conflicts. We will also try to divide our user stories more vertically, to avoid them being dependent on each other.
