What do I want to learn and understand better?

Even though I've gotten a lot better during this project I still want to get better at react, mostly debugging but also at understanding code that someone else has written.

How can I help someone else, or the entire team, to learn something new?

It's the end of this project so I don't know what I can teach someone else at this stage.

What is my contribution towards the team's use of Scrum?

I've taken part of meetings and discussions, this sprint we have had a lot of discussions on which implementations we should prioritize and I've tried to focus on what will create value for the customers.

What is my contribution towards the team's deliveries?

I've done some css styling and some minor fixes in the code. I helped writing the team reflection and a little bit on the final report.
